

St. Martin's On The Wind

Natural Hot Springs
Natural Hot Springs

The setting is what makes this such a memorable location. The Wind River itself is beautiful and the river banks in the area of the hot springs are made up of solid rock. The river flows down a small canyon with tall trees on both sides. The warm sun shines down into the canyon most of the day. The only sounds to be heard are the call of birds in the area and the rush of the river.

St. Martins on the Wind is located on the wind river approximately 50 miles east of Vancouver, WA near the town of Carson. To visit the hot spring, drive east from Vancouver on SR 14 and continue past the turnoff for Carson. Pass milepost 49 and cross the Senator Al Henry bridge over the Wind River and then turn left onto Berge Road. Follow Berge Road for 3/4 mile and then turn left onto Indian Cabin Road. Follow Indian Cabin Road 3/4 mile to the very end. At the end of the road you will find a parking area. Park here. There is a parking fee of $2.00 per vehicle plus $2.00 per person.

The trail to the hot springs is approximately one mile long and starts out as a legitimate trail, but quickly disintegrates, at which time it is best to drop down to the rivers edge and follow the river. Be very careful! The river bank is strewn with boulders and you will find yourself climbing up, down and around as you find your way upstream. The footing is often unsure and the route can be treacherous.

Bathing suit optional.
