WIN 2007 Conference Summary

My poster presentation session was on April 13, 2007 from 1.00 -5.00PM. It was my first time to participate the big conference in US. I think I benefited greatly from poster session. It was a great way to interact with people with the same interests. I had a good opportunity to share, discuss and get various suggestions from participants in nursing profession who had diverse perspectives. Some of them were professors and doctoral students from other universities. Some were clinical nurses in different settings. I also met some Thai nurses who work here. It was good for me to share my Thai version of instruments for them to see. WIN conference had many different kinds of topics and interests, so it was hard to share in detail of midwifery area. The topic that I had a chance to discuss was the translation process of the instrument. The poster presentation is a good start for me or anyone who was very new and never had a presentation experience in a big conference. I learned a lot from each step in the process of submitting the application, doing the poster and presenting the poster in the WIN conference.
