

New Oracle Self Service Access Request

OHSU is in the testing phase of a new self service application that will enable users to request access to an existing Oracle role (currently known as a responsibility) in our suite of applications. When the request is submitted, a chain of approvers is notified. The request system will automatically grant access shortly after the final approval is completed.

Watch the Financial News Network for updates regarding the project.