

AIS Hardware Upgrade Update

Testing

The AIS Hardware is scheduled for upgrade in June. This upgrade will entail moving databases to new servers, thus providing additional capacity to improve performance. The key process testing phase has just been concluded and the DBA and UNIX teams are hard at work building the final production server cluster where they will conduct the dress rehearsal and go live.

Decommissioning Servers

As part of the hardware upgrade, databases will be moved from several HP tru64 UNIX servers to new Solaris servers. This effort is underway and will continue thru the end of the calendar year. Any groups affected will be notified well in advance of the changes.

Stay tuned to the Central Financial Services web site for further updates from Financial Services Education (FSE).