Prohibited Activities

A public employee, while on the job during work hours may not:

→ prepare or distribute written material, post website information, transmit emails or make a presentation that advocates a political position
→ collect funds, prepare filing forms or correspondence on behalf of candidates or political committees
→ produce or distribute a news release or letter announcing an elected official’s candidacy for re-election (except for an elections official doing so as an official duty) or presenting an elected official’s political position
→ make outgoing calls to schedule or organize campaign events or other political activity on behalf of an elected official or political committee (however, a scheduler may, as part of official duties, take incoming calls about the official’s availability and add an event to the schedule)
→ grant unequal access to public facilities to candidates or political committees
→ direct other public employees to participate in political activities, when in the role of a supervisor
→ draft, type, format or edit a governing body’s resolution that advocates a political position (except to conform the resolution to a standard format)
→ prepare or give recommendations to the governing body urging which way to vote on such a resolution
→ sign such a resolution, except if the signature is only ministerial and clearly included to attest the board took the vote
→ announce the governing body’s position on such a resolution to the media
→ include the governing body’s position or vote on such a resolution in a jurisdiction’s newsletter or other publication

Allowable Activities

A public employee, while on the job during working hours may:

→ prepare and distribute impartial written material or make an impartial presentation that discusses election subjects (using the guidelines provided in the Secretary of State’s detailed memo on ORS 260.432 and obtaining review from the jurisdiction’s legal counsel, as available.)

The Secretary of State’s Elections Division is also available for an advisory review of draft material about ballot measures produced by government agencies.

→ perform standard job duties, such as taking minutes at a public meeting, maintaining public records, opening mail, inserting a proposed resolution into a board agenda packet
→ impartially advise employees about possible effects of a measure, but not threaten them with financial loss to vote a particular way
→ address election-related issues while on the job, in a factual and impartial manner, if such activity is legitimately within scope of employee’s normal duties
→ as staff of an elected official, handle incoming calls about the official’s availability for political events
→ prepare neutral, factual information for a governing body to use in determining what position to take on an issue (planning stage of a governing body’s opposed issue before certified as a measure to a ballot is not covered by ORS 260.432)
→ in a clerical manner, incorporate amendments into a finalized version of a governing body’s resolution on an issue
→ respond to public records request for information, even if the material advocates a political position
→ wear political buttons subject to applicable employer policies*
→ express personal political views subject to applicable employer policies*

*A public employee who provides voter registration assistance under the federal National Voter Registration Act (NVRA) must not, when performing voter registration services, influence a client’s political choices. This means no display of political preferences, including a restriction that no political buttons may be worn. ORS 247.208(3)
