Disability Inequity in the Workplace

DAN FRIESS

Executive Director, Incight

Tuesday, October 14, 2014

12 -1pm

Marquam Room (Mac Hall 1116)

What are the attitudes and stereotypes toward people with disabilities at OHSU and beyond? This lecture will offer attendees a new framework toward greater understanding and more equitable and respectful interactions with people with disabilities.

Dan Friess is the executive director for Incight, a Portland-based nonprofit that provides myriad services and program for people with disabilities. In addition to employment support, Incight provides support for education, advocacy and independence for people with disabilities. Friess has extensive background in small business and entrepreneurial consulting and training. He has experience with curriculum development, marketing, sales, branding, technology, capital fundraising and strategic process in a variety of industries.

Beyond protected rights and accommodations, learn about the greater problems of stigma and attitude toward people with disabilities. Take the first step toward becoming a change agent for social justice among the disability community.

The event is free and open to all OHSU students, faculty and staff. Bring your lunch; coffee, tea and light snacks will be provided.

Space is limited, so please RSVP early. To request accommodation, or for more information about the lecture, email cdi@ohsu.edu.
