Biography - Historical Note

Dr. Raymond E. Watkins was born in Fairdale, Illinois in 1882. He attended Harvey College in Chicago and graduated from the School of Medicine of the University of Illinois in 1909. He moved to Portland in 1911 and in 1922, became a professor of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Oregon Medical School where he also served as dean of the department.

Although Dr. Watkins had no formal postgraduate training, he mastered difficult surgical techniques by frequently visiting clinics of well-known technicians where he learned new and innovative techniques. He was an outstanding diagnostician and an excellent plastic surgeon.

However, he was modest to the point of timidity. His colleagues viewed his timidity negatively and felt that he had an "... unspoken fear that he might lose caste in academic work by comparison with his contemporaries". He was completely ineffective as dean of the department. His subordinates felt that they worked in an oppressive atmosphere and so were not motivated to raise the prestige of the department. Yet his friends and patients showed great affection for him and appreciated his love of good food and music.

At the age of 63, Dr. Watkins died of septicemia at the Emmanuel Hospital in Portland, Oregon, in 1945 August 7.

Publication Information

Oregon Health & Science University Historical Collections & Archives 2013-02-25

Restrictions on Access

Some materials in this collection have been redacted according to HIPAA standards for protecting patient information and are not available for research.

Conditions Governing Reproduction and Use

The OHSU Historical Collections & Archives is the owner of the materials and makes available reproductions for research, publication, and other uses. Written permission must be obtained from the OHSU HC&A before any reproduction use. The OHSU HC&A does not necessarily hold copyright to all of the materials in the collections. In some cases, permission for use may require seeking additional authorization from the copyright owners.

Acquisition Information

No information on the acquisition of the initial accession are available.

The Raymond E. Watkins Collection (2002-003) now includes the J.C. Misko Papers (2004-014). In the course of processing the J.C. Misko Papers, it was found that the collection consists of materials created by, or related to Dr. Raymond E. Watkins. None of the materials are associated with Dr. J.C. Misko, a 1954 graduate of the University of Oregon Medical School. The accession record does not provide custodial information so it was decided that it was an accession error to have titled the collection the J.C. Misko Papers. These have now been added to Raymond E. Watkins Papers.

Processing Information

Materials have been lightly cleaned and re-housed in acid-free folders and cartons. Photographs have been placed in acid-free sleeves.
