On Friday July 15th students, along with family and friends, attended the OHSU School of Dentistry Class of 2019 White Coat Ceremony. The ceremony is held to recognize and celebrate the symbolic transition of the Class from the didactic and laboratory phases of their education to the beginning of clinical practice and the care of patients. Congratulations to all!
DID YOU KNOW?

The Class of 2016 was very productive in clinical care provided for patients. Here are some of the highlights:

The Class completed 95,509 procedures in the SoD clinics and another 12,082 in our community partner sites. They placed 7754 single tooth restorations here and an additional 5372 offsite. The Class also performed 3509 surgical procedures here and more than 2000 in the community and rural locations. All in all, quite impressive and supports our commitment to patient service and student learning.

In the pre-doctoral program, the opportunity for research is growing steadily. As evidence there has been a recent addition to the student research curriculum, the CaseCAT (Critically Appraised Topic) program. Students select a clinical question of interest regarding one of their own patients, and then answer with the best available evidence using a structured format. They then turn their caseCATs into poster presentations, to be shown at the annual SoD Research Day and the Oregon Dental Convention in April. This program is not only supported by the SoD, but by the Oregon Dental Association (ODA) as well.

Finally, our patient care program is guided by our Standards of Care. The School has defined six Standards and they are:

I. Comprehensive care is provided.
II. Care is provided in a timely manner.
III. Patient care is of high quality.
IV. Patients report satisfaction with care received.
V. Confidentiality of patient information is maintained.
VI. Care is delivered in a safe environment.
