

Graduate Studies PhD Student Stipends

PhD Student Stipends range from $25,500 - $27,000 with students entering their Program at $25,500. These rates are effective July 1, 2010.

Students must pass the PhD qualifying exam before any increase in stipend can be considered and stipend increases are at the sole discretion of the Program.

Students are responsible for the 'March Wellness' incidental fee.

The Graduate Faculty Council reviews stipends on an annual basis, and dependent upon many factors, may recommend an increase or freeze of stipends to the School of Medicine Dean.