Karyn and Blaire Receive Golden Rose Awards

Karyn Marks and Blaire Goodnight, PAS specialist and medical assistant, Family Medicine - Scappoose

In caring for a pregnant patient, Dr. Eric Poolman learned that this patient had many unusual challenges that included no one to support her during the birthing process. As part of Dr. Poolman's clinic team, Karyn, team coordinator, and Blaire, medical assistant, volunteered to be birthing coaches for his patient.

When labor began to progress at 1:30 AM, Dr. Poolman put a call out to Karyn and Blaire who in turn drove the 35 minutes to OHSU during the middle of the night and stayed with this patient through delivery into the morning.

Karyn and Blaire even made it to work later that day having only caught a couple of hours sleep. We are so proud of these two for assisting a patient during a very emotionally charged situation and for being such caring and supportive human beings.

We are thrilled they are being recognized for going way beyond expectations to provide compassionate care to a vulnerable patient.

Karyn and Blaire received their Golden Rose Awards at the ceremony on November 30, 2011.

Family Medicine Employee Giving Program 2011

We hope that you will join in donating to OHSU Family Medicine, as part of the OHSU Employee Giving Program. In our Departmental Employee Giving Program, we hope to advance two important causes: the professional development of our staff and the support of our most needy patients.

In short, all contributions designated OHSU Family Medicine will go into a “pool.” Half of this total will be used to support staff professional development, with allocation decisions made by a committee representing various staff constituencies. By definition, staff includes all “represented” (such as AFSCME & ONA) or classified employees in EJH and our Portland and Scappoose clinics; it does not include unrepresented/unclassified employees.

The amount that goes to the pool for staff professional development will be matched by funds from the Department of Family Medicine, thereby doubling the amount available for this important activity.

What about the other half of the funds received? Of this amount, all contributions from faculty and staff affiliated with specific clinics will be returned to the specific clinics for support of needy patients in ways best determined by the clinics.

“Patient bucket” contributions by persons not affiliated with specific clinics will go for support of department activities, including lunches at department meetings, the holiday party, resident graduation, and so forth.

We hope for 100% participation by all faculty and staff. Those contributing $500 or more will receive Taylor Society recognition and benefits. Please join in our Giving Program. A form is attached to the email. Please complete, add a check, credit card authorization, or authorize a payroll deduction, and return to Alice Ho by December 15.
JADECOM and NWPC Share Medical Knowledge and Healthcare Challenges

The Japanese Association for the Development of Community Medicine (JADECOM) recently visited Northwest Primary Care (NWPC) and Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU) to discuss the medical requirements and challenges at rural clinics.

Dr. Subra Seetharaman, NWPC, JADECOM, and the OHSU Department of Family Medicine, have jointly developed the International Residency Exchange Program. Dr. Seetharaman, as a family practice resident, had an opportunity to visit Japan and has remained active in the program ever since. JADECOM programs include hosting residents and offering a clinical rotation between Oregon and Japan.

“This creates an insightful collaboration between two communities sharing the same struggles in rural areas in very different cultures”, said Dr. Seetharaman. “I believe we learn a lot with the exchange of ideas to promote better general health and well-being in the smaller population centers.”

In Japan, a nationalized healthcare system allows everyone access to medical care. The cost to patients and families is very affordable with world class standards available to all levels of the society. Although the most modern medical care is available to citizens in the main population centers, Japan’s mountainous rural areas remain underserved as Japanese practitioners have traditionally studied specialized skills and seldom become the family medicine generalists we know in the USA.

This disparity within one of the World’s most modern societies shows that training general practitioners is vital to the health of the general population.

JADECOM provides a channel for Dr. Seetharaman, JADECOM residents, and OHSU Family Medicine Residents to share presentations and observe clinics in rural communities. This exchange leads to a better understanding of the healthcare system throughout Japan and the USA.
Governor John Kitzhaber, MD gave a dinner lecture for the Foundation for Medical Excellence on Tuesday, November 29th at the Portland Hilton Hotel Pavilion Ballroom at 6:30 PM.

The following faculty from OHSU Family Medicine attended the dinner lecture: Moira Ray, Debbie Cohen, Holly Milne, Brett White, Erwin Teuber, Roger Garvin, Ariel Smits, and Elizabeth Steiner.

The Governor spoke on “Making the Transition to a Sustainable Health Care System: The Oregon Approach: so far...”

The health care system in Oregon and beyond faces unprecedented challenges: unsustainable increases in costs, fragmented care, uneven quality, and an increasing burden of chronic disease. Because both health and health care are products of local systems, successfully overcoming these challenges will require local solutions. Governor Kitzhaber discussed how health care reform legislation creates an opportunity to transform our health care system through local innovation, leadership, and a transition to accountable care.

The Foundation for Medical Excellence John Kitzhaber, MD, Lectureship was established in 1993 to recognize Dr. Kitzhaber’s many contributions to the citizens of Oregon and the nation through his pioneering work in health care.

This Lectureship is sustained by contributions from the Founding Members (below) and by sponsoring groups/organizations as well as individual contributions. Your participation in this lectureship is invited. All contributions are recognized publically by TFME.

Thanksgiving Potluck at EJH

OHSU Department of Family Medicine at Emma Jones Hall held a Thanksgiving Luncheon on November 17th at 12:15 noon in Conference Room 326. The room was festively decorated for the occasion. The department provided the turkey which was carved by Ben Cox and the punch made by Alice Ho. And the rest of the food was provided by EJH faculty and staff. We had quite a feast.

The Joy of Medicine

To each one of you the practice of medicine will be very much as you make it…to one a worry, a care, a perpetual annoyance, to another, a daily joy and a life of as much happiness and usefulness as can well fall to the lot of man.

Sir William Osler (1849-1919)
Congratulations Becca and Ian

Becca and Ian and big brother Zach are thrilled to announce the arrival of

Cora Terese Thompson
born Friday, 11/11/11, at 8:52 am
8 lb 3 oz, 21 in

Cora: Meaning derived from the Greek corn maiden (Kore), who spends part of the year in concert with Persephone, goddess of the underworld, and part of the year with her mother, Demeter, who presides over grains, the fertility of the earth, and the seasons.

In this, her name has come to symbolize the meeting of the old crops with the new and the eternity of human life that flows from the cycle of generations. Terese: Meaning harvester. A nod to Becca's shared birthday with Mother Teresa, and so a reference to the healer as well.

Everyone's doing great and enjoying settling back into being at home.

Love from Ian and Becca and Zach and Cora

Welcome Baby Isaac Jake Cohen

Hi everyone! I'm happy to deliver the fantastic news that Josh and I are parents!

Isaac Jake Cohen was born in Aigle, Switzerland at 11:30pm on Nov 20th (in Europe, 20.11.2011 ... too cool).

I pushed hard to make sure he came out in time for the great birth date, a natural delivery after a long and somewhat eventful 27 hour labor. Isaac was 3150 g (6lbs 6oz) and 48.5 cm at birth.

We're all healthy, happy, and doing well.

He's super cute, has a full head of hair, and we're having a great time with him.

What a perfect gift for the Thanksgiving season!

Big hugs, Corinne

Christmas Trees to Benefit the Ronald McDonald House

Come visit The Nutting Family Farm, this year to get your Christmas Trees. A portion of all of the Christmas Trees sold this year will benefit the Ronald McDonald House in Adelynn Nuttings name. Adelynn’s parents, Danielle (an office specialist at Richmond) and Brad Nutting were blessed enough to stay at the Ronald McDonald house after she was born, and while Adelynn underwent numerous tests in the NICU to find out she had a stroke during the time of her birth.

A stroke occurs when blood flow is interrupted to any part of the brain, resulting in tissue injury and loss of brain function.

Strokes can and do occur prior to birth. Strokes occur at the highest rate in infants who are younger than 1 month old – about 1 in 4,000 live births. For more information about infant and pediatric stroke go to www.chasa.org

Please help us spread a little extra Christmas cheer to the other families at the Ronald McDonald House.

Capture the Magic of the Holidays

Our own Marti Mendenhall sings with the Oregon Repertory Singers. So does OHSU's Tom Heckler. Marti states, “This will truly be one of the BEST Christmas concerts I have ever been invited to sing. I can't wait to share it with you!!” And Marti has ticket Vouchers. Stop by and see her!

The annual Glory of Christmas concerts return with the Singers performing some of the greatest choral music ever written for the holidays. This year, there are 4 performances over 2 weekends. Plan now to capture the magic of the holidays with Oregon Repertory Singers.

Organ and bells announce the splendor of the holidays accompanying the Singers on O Come Emmanuel to begin the concert. Glory of Christmas also features favorites O Holy Night, I Wonder as I Wander, Silent Night, Nutcracker Jingle, Go Where I Send Thee and many others including Benjamin Britten’s masterpiece A Hymn to the Virgin.

Ave Maria quattour temporum: Many great composers write about Mary for Christmas, with a number of them choosing to use the traditional Ave Maria text. This year's concert features as wide a variety of these as possible: Austrian master Anton Bruckner calls upon the choir to produce a massive quantity of sound to announce the birth of Jesus, while Portland-resident Joan Szymko asks the choir to vocally-dance in a variety of complex rhythms. The pop a cappella group Sonos, recently seen on the popular NBC show, The Sing Off, composed their own Ave Maria, melding past and present as haunting pop melodies that are based on Gregorian chants. These are interwoven and layered atop each other until the choir is singing 12 different chants simultaneously. And because our Glory of Christmas program wouldn't be complete without it, the men of ORS present their gorgeous version of Franz Biebl's Ave Maria, which stands as one of the most performed works of the entire 20th century, and a signature piece or ours.

OHSU Physician Becomes Second Candidate to Seek Suzanne Bonamici’s Oregon Senate Seat

Elizabeth Steiner Hayward, a family physician at Oregon Health & Science University, announced Friday that she will seek appointment to the state Senate seat that will soon be vacated by Democratic congressional candidate Suzanne Bonamici.

Rep. Chris Harker, D-Beaverton, has also said he would seek the appointment.

Bonamici said Thursday that she would resign after next week’s scheduled legislative meetings to ensure that her district won’t go unrepresented in the February session in the event she is elected to Congress.

The Jan. 31 special congressional election to fill the seat vacated by Democrat David Wu will be held just one day before the start of the February session. It takes at least six days and as much as a month to fill a vacancy.

Steiner Hayward is president of the Oregon Academy of Family Physicians and director of the Breast Health Education Program at OHSU's Knight Cancer Institute.

"My goal is to follow in Suzanne Bonamici's footsteps as a strong, effective woman who brings energy, integrity and intelligence to the Senate," Steiner Hayward said in a press release.

She and her husband, Michael, their two daughters and her mother-in-law live just outside of Northwest Portland in unincorporated Multnomah County.

Bonamici has not set an exact date for her resignation. Democratic precinct officials in her district will meet to choose between three and five nominees. The commissioners of Washington and Multnomah counties will then appoint one of the nominees to the position.

Drs. Bonnie and Pete Reagan and Mark Rampton returned from a Family Practice adventure in Ukraine in September with The TOUCH Project/Corvallis-Uzhhorod Sister Cities Association. All of them lectured to the Family Practice faculty at Uzhhorod National University.

It was amazing! Mark and Pete were in the same medical school class (1977) so it was fun for them to share this experience together, 34 years later.

This story started long ago. Pete and Mark were study carrel partners at OHSU in 1973-1977 during their medical school years and became good friends. Years later, Mark and Alice Rampton’s daughter was diagnosed with neuroblastoma and, during a hospitalization at OHSU, Bonnie was the resident assigned to her care. The friendship was renewed once again. Over the years, OAFP meetings also provided a site to rekindle the friendship.

Bonnie’s mother, Lou Greenfield, was the Executive Director of the Oregon chapter of the "Physicians for Social Responsibility” (PSR) from 1981-1996. In 1988, a group of Corvallis physicians who participated in PSR arranged for Rev. William Sloane Coffin to come to Corvallis and, motivated by his lecture, soon thereafter started searching for a "sister city" in what was then the USSR to promote understanding between the two countries. Uzhhorod, Ukraine was selected in 1989 and in 1990 the mayors were exchanged between the two cities.

Then in 1993, Mark was asked to participate on the first citizen delegation to do a medical assessment. He and his wife, Alice, have been involved since, with almost yearly trips to Ukraine since 1993. Alice and friend, Sabra Killen, now co-chair of a non-profit for children in Ukraine called The TOUCH Project (Take One Ukrainian Child’s Hand) which operates under the auspices of the Corvallis-Uzhhorod Sister Cities Association. With over 350 donors and sponsors in 21 states and 4 countries, TOUCH funds help children at an orphanage, those with disabilities, and those who attend a Roma School in Uzhhorod. Some of the TOUCH Project accomplishments include installation of a septic system, laundry facility, soccer field, and 3 playgrounds, opening of a school library, remodel of a dozen school classrooms, purchase of a minivan, providing 100 new beds and bedding, and yearly purchase of clothing and school supplies for the hundreds of children in the program. Everyone in The TOUCH Project works as a volunteer so all funds raised go to benefit the children.

During the past few years, Bonnie discovered that all four of her grandparents were Ukrainian, and they left when the Jews fled Ukraine before WW II. Bonnie decided to travel to Ukraine 2 years ago with an annual delegation of The TOUCH Project. After visiting Uzhhorod, she hired a tour guide, and went on to see the villages of her ancestry.

A 40 foot container was sent to Uzhhorod with medical aid and arrived safely about a month ago. The majority of aid is to boost the family practice system in Uzhhorod. We sent it free of charge through the US State Department with Corvallis-Uzhhorod Sister Cities Association as the provider organization.

Everything was stored in our red barn and garage for the past year as we gathered, sorted, inventoried, packed, built crates on pallets, etc. We were all volunteers and although we had done shipments before, it is always a learning process as we worked with the governments and customs of both the US and Ukraine.

Mark has spearheaded eight shipments of medical aide to the sister city for various hospitals, clinics, the medical school, a rehabilitation center, and facilities supporting children.

The latest (and last) shipment was sent this past summer in a 40 foot container, weighing over 12,000 pounds. It has just cleared customs and was distributed in Uzhhorod on November 18, 2011. This shipment included 2 portable ultrasounds, an EKG, 7 exam tables, a dental operatory (donated from A-dec in Newberg), 200 pairs of shoes, 150 boxes of clothing, wheelchairs and walkers, and an almost new donated mammography unit for a second Mammography Center in Uzhhorod.

The first Mammography Center was equipped 5 years ago, which was the initial center in western Ukraine to offer services to over 2 million women in this area. All of the shipping costs for these humanitarian aid shipments are covered by Counterpart International through the US State Department. Over 1/3 of the items in the last shipment are going to the expansion of a Family Practice Clinic in Uzhhorod which provides a training clinic for medical residents as well as servicing a population of 14,000 citizens.

The concept of Family Practice in western Ukraine was developed when Mark and a team of other health professionals received a $1 million dollar grant in the late 1990s from the US government to foster Family Practice, education, and women’s health. Dr. John Saultz and Dr. Eric Walsh were among those who traveled to Ukraine on this grant to promote the concept of family physicians.

Here are the glorious photos we received on November 18, 2011 of the shipment being distributed to the 19 recipients in Uzhhorod including the orphanage, rehab center, Roma school, mammography center, municipal clinic, youth center, and Dr. Paul Kolesnyk’s family practice clinic.

In September 2011, Bonnie traveled to Ukraine again with The TOUCH Project and Pete and Mark joined the group a week later. With the help of Dr. Paul Kolesnyk, Family Practice physician in Uzhhorod, they were able to organize a day of breast cancer awareness, during which Bonnie and Pete gave lectures to the doctors at the city hospital, the family medicine residents, then to a citizen gathering in the city center with breast cancer survivors. The event was broadcast through local and regional television and newspaper media.

Bonnie is a breast cancer survivor, and her impact on the citizens and doctors of Uzhhorod was huge. Susan Komen scarves were distributed to survivors, pink ribbons passed out to those who gathered, and a short march around the downtown area of Uzhhorod was held with banners and posters. In addition, Bonnie and Pete visited the home of one of the children they sponsor in The TOUCH Project.

Nine year old Galina Bukov lives in a very primitive Roma Camp and had recently been diagnosed with TB. Through Bonnie and Pete’s interest and advocacy, Galina was able to receive the proper medication which likely saved her life. Pete and Bonnie Reagan sponsor Galina in the TOUCH Project, along with 3 other children.

To note about Galina’s TB. Her aunt brought this issue up with us while we were visiting their shack. Galina was already on isoniazid (she showed us her pills). We discussed her case with Dr Kolesnyk, who agreed to verify she was getting appropriate follow up, but he stated categorically that all TB patients in the country qualified for free treatment. I’d be reluctant to claim responsibility for saving her life; I think the Ukrainian health care system is doing that. Galina is delightful and we are very glad to be helping to make her life easier in smaller ways. –Pete.

Me shopping for clothes for Galina and her two sisters. We are accompanied by a Ukrainian college student translator who luckily totally grabbed the leadership position in our little expedition. Picture trooping through acres, and acres of outdoor black market vendors and crowds on a mission to get good outfits for all three girls. She later told me I was the best man to go shopping with. I just stood around, smiled at everything, and gave them money whenever they asked for it. –Pete

Independent Clinic is Seeking Family Physician

Tuality Physicians, PC, an independent primary care clinic in Hillsboro, Oregon, is seeking a full time (4 days weekly) family physician, to begin in the summer of 2011.

This position is as an independent-contractor physician, with the intention of proportional ownership (shared with four other physicians) in 5 years. We currently have five independently-contracted physicians: four family practice physicians and one chiropractic physician. The arriving physician would assume a well-established practice, with the corresponding income from that practice.

Our physicians are paid on the basis of a percentage of income, and our average remuneration for full-time physicians exceeds $220,000 per year. There is a guaranteed minimum of $175,000 for the first year.

Because we are an independent clinic, we are able to set our own policies, be non-bureaucratic, and personalize our practices for the benefit of our patients and ourselves. We have no government or state contracts, and have opted-out of Medicare. The amount of geriatrics and hospital care we do is limited because of the nature of our patient population, and we utilize a hospitalist service for inpatient care.

Due to the nature of our patient population, and because we do not do hospital care, our weekend and evening call is uniquely free – we generally go entire weekends without a single telephone call. Such freedom from weekend and evening call fits in with the three overall goals of the clinic: high quality outpatient care, exceptional income and a quality lifestyle for our physicians.

We have electronic medical records, excellent employees and a cordial and pleasant work environment.

Our goals are: excellent medicine, a pleasant work environment, excellent personal lifestyles and maximal income – and these goals are consistently met in our clinic.

If you are interested in this position, please visit our web site at http://www.tualityphysicians.com or contact me by phone or email.
