

Portland Aerial Tram

Riding the Portland Aerial Tram

The Portland Aerial Tram is a convenient way to travel between Marquam Hill and the OHSU Center for Health & Healing at South Waterfront. Website is www.portlandtram.org

Fare Ticket

All riders must have a round-trip Fare Ticket when riding the Tram. Tickets can be purchased from the ticket machines at the lower terminal. OHSU employees and students must show their ID badges in lieu of tickets. Outpatients may always purchase tickets and in some cases may qualify for a complimentary ride. For more information on outpatient tickets, visit the Outpatient Rider Information page.

Tram Rider Tips

The following tips will help ensure you have a safe and pleasant ride on the Portland Aerial Tram.

- All riders must have some form of a Fare Ticket in order to board the Tram.
- Fare Tickets can only be purchased and are only checked at the lower terminal.
- Children 12 years old or younger must be accompanied by an adult.
- Children six and younger ride free.
- No eating, smoking or carrying open containers of food or beverages.
- Fold-down seats in the Tram cabins are reserved for elderly and disabled riders.
- Riders may take assistance animals, or pets that are in secure pet carriers, on the Tram.
- Bikes, strollers, carriages are allowed on the Tram.
- The Tram cabin attendant is responsible for ensuring a safe and enjoyable ride. Please follow the attendant's instructions.

We hope you enjoy your ride and the wonderful view of Portland!

Accessibility

Through its unique design and service, the Tram is a safe and convenient form of transportation for all riders. The Tram cabins and the terminals are both fully compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

Tram riders with limited mobility or riders needing special services should first talk with the terminal concierge or the Tram attendant. These professionals can help you and make your ride easy.

Wheelchairs and mobility devices must be equipped with brakes that can be locked during the ride.

Parking

The Tram is a good option for people using public transit. The Portland Streetcar stops at the corner of S.W. Moody and S.W. Gibbs, across the street from the South Waterfront Tram terminal. TriMet riders may ride the bus or MAX downtown and transfer to the Portland Streetcar. The Streetcar and Tram both accommodate bikes and mobility devices. Schedules and fare information are available online at: www.portlandstreetcar.org.
