Native American Heritage Celebration

November 8-14, 2010

Lecture Series

Monday, November 8, 12-1 p.m., OHSU Hospital, room UHS8B60

A broader understanding of Native health: A social determinants approach

Roger Dale Walker, M.D., professor, Departments of Psychiatry and Public Health and Preventive Medicine; director, Center for American Indian Health, Education and Research;

director, One Sky Center: National Native Mental Health Addictions Resource Center, OHSU

Thursday, November 11, 12-1 p.m., OHSU Hospital, room UHS8B60

Making the invisible visible: Portland's Native American community

Nichole Maher, M.P.H., executive director, Native American Youth and Family Center (NAYA)

Friday, November 12, 12-1 p.m., Mackenzie Hall, room 2201

State of Indian health: Review of health system and health status on American Indians and Alaska Natives Joe Finkbonner, R.Ph., M.H.A., executive director, Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board

Exhibit: Oregon Is Indian Country: The Land, Federal Indian Policies and Traditions that Bind

The Land and Federal Indian Policies

Wednesday – Sunday, November 3 – 29, BICC Library, room 426

(Access: 7:30 a.m. — 8 p.m. through BICC 326 (Library main entrance), after hours through BICC room 426 with OHSU ID badge)

Traditions that Bind

Wednesday — Sunday, November 3 — 29, Doernbecher Children's Hospital, 3rd floor Lobby

The Oregon Historical Society traveling exhibit, entitled Oregon Is Indian Country, provides text and historical and contemporary photographs about the nine federally recognized tribes of Oregon. The Land examines the ways the physical environment has and continues to influence tribal cultures. It looks at uses of natural resources and the enduring ties that tribes have with the land. Federal Indian Policies explores policies that changed lives since the first official exploration by the U.S. government into the territory by Lewis & Clark in 1805 through an examination of significant historical events and policies such as sovereignty, treaties, the reservations system, termination and restoration. Traditions that Bind investigates the rich cultural heritage of Oregon's tribes, including their oral traditions, material culture, art and traditional lifeways.

Culinary Exploration

Mac Hall Café and Bistro, Monday – Friday, November 8 – 12 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Marquam Café at the 3rd floor, Monday — Sunday, November 8 — 14

Open 24 hours every day

