EDUCATIONAL MEETINGS

Our training program offers fellows a comprehensive series of didactic sessions and teaching rounds, including the following:

Clinical sign-out rounds

Occurring twice weekly, clinical sign out rounds is run by the fellow on the clinical inpatient service. The entire multi-disciplinary care team is present for sign-out rounds. All inpatients and inpatient consultations are presented. Planned admissions, diagnostic dilemmas, and upcoming procedures are discussed. First-year fellows and the weekend on-call fellow are required to attend. All other fellows are encouraged to participate.

Tumor Board

This is a formal weekly conference in which a case is presented and discussed. Attendance is required for first-year fellows and encouraged for other fellows. Fellows are also expected to present several cases throughout the year.

Department of Pediatrics Grand Rounds

This is a weekly formal presentation of a clinical or basic science topic related to pediatrics. Attendance is encouraged for all fellows. When a hematology-oncology topic is being presented or when a PHO faculty or fellow is presenting, attendance is required of all fellows.

Journal Club

Held monthly, this journal club is attended by fellows and attendings in pediatric hematology-oncology. A biostatistician is also present. At each meeting, a PHO fellow presents a journal article. All fellows are required to attend and actively participate in discussion.

PHO Fellow Educational Conferences

This bi-monthly meeting is organized by the fellows and is attended by fellows and attendings. The presence of all fellows is required. Each fellow is expected to present a topic pertinent to pediatric hematology-oncology.

Basic Lecture Series

At the beginning of each academic year, the faculty physicians present topics that will set the stage for the care of our unique patient population. These didactic lectures occur up to three times a week and are required for first year fellows. All other fellows and attendings are encouraged to attend.

Neuro-Oncology Tumor Board

This formal conference, held weekly, is led by the director of our neuro-oncology program. Faculty, fellows, and residents in pediatric hematology-oncology, neurosurgery, radiology, and pathology attend this conference. Attendance is required for first-year fellows and encouraged for all others.
Leukemia/Lymphoma Conference

This formal conference, held quarterly, is led by the director of our leukemia/lymphoma program. Faculty and fellows attend this conference. Attendance is required for first-year fellows and encouraged for all others.

Solid Tumor Conference

This formal conference, held quarterly, is led by the director of our solid tumor program. Faculty and fellows attend this conference. Attendance is required for first-years fellows and encouraged for all others.

Stem Cell Transplant Conference

This formal conference, held quarterly, is led by the director of our stem cell transplant program. Faculty and fellows attend this conference. Attendance is required for first-years fellows and encouraged for all others.

Hematopathology Conference

Held three weeks of the month, this one hour conference is run by the hematolopathology fellow and attending. Pediatric hematology-oncology faculty and fellows attend this conference. Attendance is required for first-year fellows and for the inpatient team. Attendance is encouraged for all others.

Surgical Pathology Conference

Held once a month, this one hour conference is run at the microscope by a surgical pathology attending. Pediatric hematology-oncology faculty and fellows attend this conference. Attendance is required for first-year fellows and for the inpatient team. Attendance is encouraged for all others.

Radiology Rounds

Held weekly, this one hour conference is run in the Radiology Department by a pediatric radiology attending. Pediatric hematology-oncology faculty and fellows attend this conference. Attendance is required for first-year fellows and for the inpatient team. Attendance is encouraged for all others.

Hemostasis and Thrombosis Conference

This joint conference of the adult and pediatric hematology programs is held weekly. It is led by either an adult or pediatric hematologist and is usually case based. The basic science of hemostasis and thrombosis is discussed during one conference each month. A conference centered solely on pediatric hemostasis and thrombosis issues follows this conference every week. Attendance is required for the first year fellow on the hematology consult service and is encouraged for all other fellows.

Psychosocial Rounds

Psychosocial rounds are held weekly and attended by fellows, faculty, and other multidisciplinary team members who want to discuss psychosocial issues surrounding the provision of care to individual patients. Attendance is required of the inpatient team. All others are encouraged to attend.
