

Trauma Care in Haiti: A realistic Point of View.

Hospital Bernard Mevs Project Medishare is the only trauma, critical care and rehabilitation hospital in the entire country of Haiti. Founded after the earthquake of January 2010, the hospital is responsible for providing lifesaving care to Haiti's sickest adults, children and premature infants. This endeavor has been remarkable, but is localized to the capital, Port-au-Prince. During this presentation, I would like to highlight what is available in the rest of the country of Haiti based on my experience at a small community hospital that became the default hospital for the south of Haiti after the earthquake. This experience is an example of what is available outside of Port-au-Prince even today.
