

SABRINA FREEWYN

Building a Movement for Total Worker Health[®]

The Total Worker Health[®] movement is early in its evolution. What is needed now is a growth strategy. Organizations like SAIF are uniquely positioned to reach large audiences with trusted advice and support for implementation. This presentation will share our approach to building a TWH movement in Oregon, provide examples of our marketing and messaging materials, and describe what we need from our academic and government partners to fuel the movement.