

Percent of Oregon Children and Youth who Got the Care Coordination They Needed

- 31% did not receive needed care coordination
- 69% received needed care coordination

Care is coordinated when a child's family and health and service providers work together effectively to meet the child's needs.

Coordinated care benefits patients, families, and providers.

Nearly a third of Oregon children who needed care coordination didn't get it.

Results describe CYSHCN under 18 years who needed care coordination.
