

Diaphragmatic Hernia

Diaphragmatic Hernia (dī-ə-frə(g)-'ma-tik hər-nē-ə) is a birth defect where there is a hole in the diaphragm (the large muscle that separates the chest from the abdomen). Organs in the abdomen (such as intestines, stomach, and liver) can move through the hole in the diaphragm and upwards into a baby's chest. When an organ pushes through the hole, it is called a hernia. A diaphragmatic hernia can prevent the baby's lungs from developing completely. This causes breathing difficulties for the baby at birth.
