The Mild Traumatic Brain Injury Symposium (mTBI Symposium) is an annual two-day event dedicated to showcasing basic and clinical research and clinical care, specifically in rehabilitative services.

Keynote: Steven Broglio, Ph.D.
Director, Michigan Concussion Center
• Setting up a research network: Lessons and findings from the CARE Consortium
• Value of concussion assessments in clinical care

Friday’s research day includes talks on gait and balance, sensory and sleep effects, and a panel discussion on research networks.

Saturday’s clinical day focuses on sleep and mood, vision evaluation, and physical therapy.

Find the full agenda and registration information at www.ohsu.edu/brain-institute/mild-traumatic-brain-injury-symposium.

Continuing Education Units for athletic trainers and physical/occupational therapists may be available. Contact Kate Stout (stoutk@ohsu.edu) for information about discount codes for OHSU employees, OHSU system partners, and students.