

CONTINUING PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

2020

Fall CME Course Catalog

September

through

December

September

18 – When Things Go Wrong in the Outdoors

Attend this conference to increase your knowledge of key aspects of wilderness medicine—from minor injuries like sprains and strains to natural hazards like extreme altitude, heat and cold—and be able to advise patients (and friends) who may be heading into the outdoors. All health care providers are encouraged to attend this one-day conference.

Registration Deadline: September 14

Learn more and register

All conferences during the Fall 2020 season will be held virtually.

Learn more about the activities and services offered by the Division of Continuing Professional Development by visiting our website.

Additional activities are available on-demand on our Online CME Library.

Contact us: cme@ohsu.edu

25 – 15th Annual NW Regional Hospital Medicine Conference

OHSU's annual update in Hospital Medicine is geared towards inpatient physicians and advanced practice providers. In addition to Literature Reviews, presentations will emphasize inpatient management of acute coronary syndrome, acute respiratory failure, delirium tremens, pneumonia, COVID-19, and infectious complications of common biologic therapeutic agents.

Registration Deadline: September 21

Learn more and register

November

13 – Pediatric GI for Primary Care

The focus of this conference is pediatric gastroenterology. Specifically, you will learn practical approaches to problems commonly seen in the office. Faculty will include OHSU providers as well as community physicians from the Willamette Valley.

Registration Deadline: November 9

Learn more and register

October

2-3 – 21st Annual Oregon Geriatric Society Conference

The OGS conference is designed for physicians, nurse practitioners and other health care professionals who work with older adults in various care settings. Topics this year will include hypertension, dementia, and care transitions, among other important updates.

Registration Deadline: September 28

Learn more and register

15-16 – 44th Annual Pacific Northwest Update in OB-GYN and Women's Health

OHSU Ob-Gyn faculty will share their expertise on clinically relevant topics through multi-disciplinary perspectives, informative plenary sessions, and focused breakout sessions. Keynote lectures are titled, "Primary Care for the Older Patient," and "Multidisciplinary Approach to Pelvic Pain."

Registration Deadline: October 12

Learn more and register

23 – 15th Annual Pediatric Review

This year's review will be condensed into one amazing day of learning! It will focus on practical approaches to pediatric primary care that you can apply to use for everyday practice. The 2020 Cindy Ferrell Keynote Lecturer will be Dana Hargunani, MD, MPH, Chief Medical Officer of the OHA.

Registration Deadline: October 19

Learn more and register

30 – Musculoskeletal Update for Primary Care

This year's course will focus on the treatment and management of pain, including the use of physical therapy and medications. Attendees will explore how the overlap of rheumatology and orthopedic knowledge can help determine whether the problem is mechanical or inflammatory.

Registration Deadline: October 26

Learn more and register

December

11 – Managing Autism and Other Developmental Disabilities: An Update for Primary Care

This conference will focus on children and youth with developmental disabilities. The afternoon will include a panel of providers, parents and patients discussing the transition from pediatric care to adulthood.

Registration Deadline: December 7

Learn more and register

Attendance and Registration

Due to the ongoing COVID-19 situation, there will be no in-person attendance at these conferences. To best manage the virtual experience for attendees, registration for conferences will close on the Monday of the week of the event.

Credit

Oregon Health & Science University School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

American Medical Association: All activities have been approved for AMA PRA Category 1 credits™.

MOC Part II is available for most activities.

If you have a disability and require assistance to participate in any conference, please contact the Division of CPD at 503-494-8700 or email cme@ohsu.edu as early as possible, but no later than 20 days before the meeting.