ABOUT OUR SPEAKER

Abby R. Rosenberg, MD, MS, MA, is an Associate Professor of Pediatrics, in the division of Hematology-Oncology, at the University of Washington. She received her MD from Stanford University and did her pediatrics residency and fellowship training at Seattle Children's and the University of Washington. Her additional training includes a Master of Science in Clinical Research Methods and a Master of Arts in Bioethics, both from the University of Washington.

She is the director of the Palliative Care and Resilience lab at Seattle Children's Research Institute, and the director of Pediatrics at the Cambia Palliative Care Center of Excellence at the University of Washington. Her scholarship focuses on the intersection of medical, psychosocial, and bioethical issues involved in the care of children, adolescents, and young adults with serious illness. Specifically, she and her team endeavor to create evidence-based interventions to promote patient and family resilience. Current projects include three R01-funded randomized trials to test her novel resilience intervention in populations of teens with serious illness.

We look forward to seeing you there!
