

THE BIOETHICS STUDY GROUP SERIES
and SOCIAL WORK GRAND ROUNDS CO-PRESENT

“I’M NOT SICK”:
ETHICAL DECISION
MAKING IN END OF LIFE
CARE FOR PATIENTS
EXPERIENCING SEVERE
MENTAL ILLNESS

BY LYNN A. JANSEN, PHD, RN, ANDREA
MONTO, LCSW, & JONATHAN FLORIANI, MD

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 2020

12:00-1:00PM

Via Echo/WebEx

ADDITIONAL DETAILS ON NEXT PAGE...

About this presentation:

Social Work Grand Rounds provides a monthly opportunity to learn from Social Worker and interdisciplinary colleagues, speaking on a large variety of social issues and practical implications intended to enhance your practice and expand your awareness. Since 1989, the OHSU Center for Ethics in Health Care has partnered with practitioners of all health professions regionally and nationally to be a leading voice for compassionate health care. The Center is committed to providing an ethical perspective of compassion, respect and justice to ensure that such care is delivered wisely and well.

This month, join Andrea Monto, LCSW, Lynn Jansen, PhD, RN, and Jonathan Floriani, MD, as they speak on the complex ethical dynamics of end of life decision-making for patients lacking decision-making capacity as a result of Severe and Persistent Mental Illness (SPMI).

This event will explore three cases studies of OHSU patients with SPMI who experienced three very different medical outcomes. Presenters will break down the converging factors that led to these outcomes: decision-making capacity, competence, risk of mortality, desire to preserve autonomy, and the risks and benefits of mandated medical treatment, with reference to theory, law, and OHSU policy.

Options for joining:

Echo: Join Meeting HERE

WebEx (PLEASE mute mics and turn off cameras if you choose this option):

Join Meeting: HERE

Meeting password: xH98kRKZ9ki

Phone (audio only):

1-206-207-1700 US

1-503-907-9144 Portland, OR

Meeting number (access code): 120 805 5030