

THE ALL-CITY PALLIATIVE CARE LECTURE SERIES
IS HONORED TO PRESENT

A CLINICAL PERSPECTIVE ON THE INTEGRATION OF PALLIATIVE CARE FOR PATIENTS WITH HEMATOLOGIC MALIGNANCIES

PRESENTED BY OHSU'S SECTION CHIEF OF PALLIATIVE CARE
JASON WEBB, MD, FAPA FAAHPM

FRIDAY, JANUARY 15, 2021
12:00-1:00PM PST
VIA WEBEX - JOIN HERE

ABOUT OUR SPEAKER

Dr. Webb received his medical degree from the University of Nevada, School of Medicine, and completed a combined Internal Medicine and Psychiatry residency training at Duke University. He served as the Chief Resident for Consultation-Liaison Psychiatry and the Medicine-Psychiatry Chief Resident at Duke University Hospital. Dr. Webb also served for an additional year as the Internal Medicine Chief Resident at the Durham Veterans Affairs Medical Center in a leadership role for the Duke Internal Medicine Residency training program.

Dr. Webb then completed fellowship training at Duke University in Hospice and Palliative Medicine prior to joining the faculty of Duke Palliative Care in 2014. He served as the Director of Education for the Duke Center for Palliative Care, and the Program Director for the Hospice and Palliative Medicine Fellowship at Duke from 2014 until 2020 where he was an Associate Professor of Medicine and Psychiatry.

In October 2020, Dr. Webb joined Oregon Health and Science University as the Section Chief of Palliative Care, Knight Cancer Institute. He is an Associate Professor of Medicine and Psychiatry, and Dr. Webb will be directing the clinical, education, and research programs for the Section of Palliative Care in the Division of Hematology and Medical Oncology and across OHSU Health.

continued onto next page...

Dr. Webb focuses his practice on the mental health and palliative care needs of patients with chronic serious illnesses. Dr. Webb is an active clinical member of OHSU Palliative Care, where he attends on the inpatient Palliative Care Consultation Service. He provides outpatient palliative care for patients in the Knight Cancer Institute concurrently with their oncologists, treating their pain and managing complex symptoms, with special emphasis on the neuropsychiatric aspects of care for cancer patients.

Dr. Webb's conducts collaborative clinical research with colleagues at Duke University and Massachusetts General Hospital. This research team is currently conducting a novel randomized trial examining the role of early palliative care interventions for patients with hematologic malignancies undergoing curative intent treatments including patients undergoing bone marrow transplantation.

Nationally, Dr. Webb serves on the National Comprehensive Cancer Network (NCCN) guidelines committee for the Cancer-Related Fatigue panel, and is a member of the NCI Palliative and Supportive Care Editorial Board for the Physicians Data Query. He is an active member of the American Academy of Hospice and Palliative Medicine (AAHPM) having served as the Chair of the Early Career Professional's Special Interest Group (SIG), the Psychosocial and Mental Health SIG, and Co-Chair of the Outpatient Palliative Care SIG. He previously served as an Associate Editor for the Symptom Assessment and Management section for PC-FACS. Dr. Webb has been honored by the AAHPM as an Inspirational Leader in Hospice and Palliative Care, was named an AAHPM Hearst Leadership Scholar in 2018, and achieved Fellow status in the Academy in 2019.

We look forward to seeing you there!