

PBMS Admissions Policy

1. PBMS will accept applications once a year for admissions into the graduate program. The application window will open September 1, and will close by the end of November.
2. Applications will be reviewed administratively to ensure all required application materials including transcripts and letters of reference.
3. The PBMS Admissions Committee will be responsible for evaluating applications using a holistic review process and will make recommendations to interview a subset of students. All members of the admissions committee must be PBS graduate faculty.
4. The PBMS Admissions Committee and PBMS faculty will conduct interviews and evaluate students using a prescribed rubric. Based on this evaluation, the PBMS Admissions committee will recommend admission of students into the graduate program.
