Purpose and Intent

The five-year Academic Program Review (APR) process is an essential part of OHSU's ongoing efforts to ensure the educational mission is being met through the delivery of academic programs. Consistent with OHSU Policy 02-50-005, Academic Program Review, primary goal of the APR is to evaluate the quality of OHSU's undergraduate and graduate educational programs, and provide faculty and staff the opportunity to reflect upon the content of their programs, curricular delivery and research through an evaluation of academic program planning and effectiveness.

The APR is intended to:

- Assess the quality and effectiveness of academic programs, while maintaining an equity lens;
- Identify program strength and opportunities for improvement;
- Encourage both short-term and long-term goals and objectives;
- Establish program action plans and strategies for continuous improvement;
- Ensure that current and proposed degree and certificate programs are aligned with OHSU strategic priorities and Mission, Purpose and Goals;
- Utilize the information collected through the program review process to inform planning and priorities at the university level.

APR is linked to the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities (NWCCU) accreditation cycle, and specifically addresses course, program, and review of academic degree/certificate programs in Standard One (1.B.1, 1.C.1, 1.C.5, and 1.C.9).

APR is also linked to OHSU's strategic plan through program level analysis and planning that demonstrates alignment with OHSU's Mission, Purpose and Goals, metrics and indicators. Overall, APR is an important mechanism by which the institution can measure alignment with institutional metrics and strategic planning. In addition, it is essential that the self-study is driven by faculty in order to ensure an authentic representation of program planning. Academic programs are empowered to determine their goals in collaboration with school level planning, and are expected to describe their academic program with respect to both regional and national peers and discipline trends. Information about academic programs should be presented in an outcomes based format to ensure measurability of goals and quality of programming.

The review cycle is initiated by the APR Committee and Office of the Provost, who maintains the program review schedule for each school or college.

Committee Structure and Review Teams

The APR Committee is comprised of nine members with representation from each school or college or affiliated units at OHSU. APR members are nominated by their colleagues to a three year term. The appointment is endorsed by the APR Committee Chair and Office of the Provost. All nominations are confirmed OHSU Faculty Senate.

Each year, the Office of the Provost works with the APR Committee on review assignments, and designates a Review Team for the purposes of evaluating academic program self-studies. APR Committee members have the primary responsibility of ensuring the authentic evaluation of programs and services, and to determine if goals and outcomes are being achieved. Review Teams are responsible for developing an evaluative report within four weeks of the review meeting, which is submitted to the academic program and appropriate associate dean for the purposes of developing a response and/or correcting factual errors.

The APR Committee meets as a group no less than twice per academic year to discuss Review Team findings, identify trends, and consider school and institutional level recommendations for inclusion in the APR annual report.

Academic Program Review Schedule

The APR Committee establishes a schedule that strives for a balanced distribution of reviews across each school or college at OHSU and appropriate alignment with specialized accreditation obligations. On average, six to eight self-studies are reviewed annually. Each school or college is given the opportunity to review the schedule and may provide input on the need for flexibility or special scheduling considerations.

Factors that may influence the APR review schedule include:

- Timing with NWCCU or specialized accreditation reviews and site visits
- Substantive program changes
- Program suspension or closure
- Special circumstances relating to a combined or multi-program review

Notification of Review

As early in the process as possible, the Office of the Provost will notify the academic program of its scheduled review.

Timeline, Process and Responsibilities

OHSU conducts a systematic internal review of programs and/or departments once every five years, which takes roughly 12-18 months to complete. Stages of the APR process include:

1. Planning and data collection
2. Unit self-study
3. Evaluation by APR Review Team
4. Development of Action Plan
5. Report to Faculty Senate and Office of the Provost

For a complete flow chart of the APR process and responsibilities, see Appendix A.

Program Self-Study Outline

The self-study process and report offer a high-level summary of the academic program, reflecting ongoing self-examination by program faculty, staff and students. The program director is responsible for selecting a team to write the self-study report, and making it available to appropriate stakeholders within the academic program and school or college, as well as external stakeholders. This team needs to be identified in the self-study, with name and title. It is recommended that the team developing the self-study use simple and natural language, with the understanding that the Review Team may not be familiar with the discipline. The self-study should demonstrate the program engages in ongoing systematic collection of meaningful, accessible and verifiable data—quantitative and/or qualitative, as appropriate indicators of achievement. The team charged with developing the self-study will need to use an equity lens as they complete the APR requirements. See Appendix B for a copy of the self-study template.

Components of the self-study include:

Introduction

The Introduction may include information about any previous reviews and discuss the academic program's response to recommendations emerging from the last review. If there have been any significant changes in the curriculum, budget, staffing, etc. they may be discussed in this section or elaborated on in the body of the report.

Response to Previous Recommendations

Academic programs that completed a self-study in a previous cycle will provide a description of its response to recommendations in the last five-year review.

Program Description

This section is designed to be descriptive, rather than analytical. This section communicates the current mission, purpose and goals (MPGs) of the program. The descriptive sections convey a sense for the size, quality and scope of program activities.

In addition, this section examines the quality and effectiveness of the academic program, student support, faculty development and evaluations (professional review and course evaluations), as well as budget and planning efforts.

Program Reflection & Analysis

This section of the report includes clear and specific recommendation or action the academic program could take to capitalize on its strengths and minimize weaknesses. By providing academic programs with an opportunity to use the information gathered for the analysis section, the program is able to think about goals, including but not limited to reallocation of resources to meet objectives, adjustment for student recruitment, etc. Areas for additional consideration may include:

- Strategies used to respond to possible challenges/opportunities in their field;
- Identify benchmarks that can be used to gauge performance, effectiveness;
- Sources of external funding to pursue;
- Shifts in program faculty (ex: retirements).

Supporting Documentation

Programs are not required to document all data in the self-study. However, it is expected that programs will append (at a minimum) the following supporting documentation:

- APR Supplemental Data Sheet;
- Program curriculum and summary of changes over the last five years;
- Letter from OHSU Assessment Council-Program Rubric Scores & Feedback.
- Program Action Plan from Previous 5-Year APR (if applicable).

Committee Evaluation Process and Recommendations

The self-study report is submitted to the Office of the Provost for review by the assigned APR Committee Review Team. The Review Team writes a summative APR Program Report on the findings for each section of the self-study and provides both commendations and recommendations. See Appendix D for the APR Self-Study Evaluation and Appendix E for the Evaluation Rubric.

The APR Self-Study Evaluation is submitted to the academic program, leadership within the school or college, and Chair of the APR Committee. Academic programs may develop a response to the report and submit any revisions to correct factual errors. In addition, academic programs draft an Action Plan, which helps the program to respond to the recommendations of the Review Team.

Each academic program will present the Self-Study, Review Team findings and the Action Plan at the appropriate school level faculty committee. This will allow other academic programs to observe the role of APR in program evaluation and effectiveness and allow for additional faculty involvement and school-level oversight of the Action Plan. Upon endorsement at the school-level, the Action Plan shall be submitted to the Office of the Provost (APR committee) no later than 3 months after receiving APR recommendations in preliminary response for documentation purposes. For more information about the Action Plan, see the section on Development of Program Action Plan.

The full APR Committee will meet (twice annually) to discuss Review Team recommendations, and identify areas for consideration and improvement across the university. Following the APR Committee meeting, the report is forwarded to Faculty Senate for its consideration. Upon approval, a recommendation and report is sent to the Office of the Provost.

Development of Program Action Plan

The purpose of the Action Plan is to use the information outlined in the Self-Reflection section of the self-study and the APR Review Team recommendations, and translate these ideas into actions with achievable outcomes. This planning process should also take into account any school level or institutional planning currently under way. The program chair/director is responsible for drafting the action plan, in consultation with faculty. All plans must be approved by the school level faculty, and the academic dean.

The Action Plan will:

- Be based on the informed, evidence-based inquiry of the program review;
- Recognize the limited availability of new resources and will strive to make program improvements considering current and future resources;
- Reflect findings/recommendations of the APR final report;
- Compliment the mission, purpose and goals of OHSU;
- Remain active until goals are achieved, a reevaluation of goals is put-forth as determined by school leadership, or the next program review is initiated.

NOTE this process is conducted once every five years and is endorsed by the academic program and academic dean. The Action Plan will be submitted to the APR Committee within 3 months after receiving APR recommendations in preliminary response. For a suggested approach to Action Planning see Appendix F.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the purpose of the Academic Program Review?

The APR process provides OHSU with an ongoing process for systematic review, assessment and planning and continuous improvement. The review process formalizes opportunities for program, school/college, and university level reflective practice.

How is Academic Program Review different from Assessment Planning?

The APR process is designed to provide a broader scope review of program quality and effectiveness. The OHSU Assessment Council is a standing committee charged with promoting campus-wide assessment activities to improve learning outcomes that align with university mission and strategic goals. In an effort to support a positive culture of assessment as a collaborative effort, the OHSU Assessment Council will provide feedback to programs in their yearly assessment. The feedback from the Assessment Council will be collected during the APR process.

How are programs selected for review and how long will it take?

The Office of the Provost and APR Committee works with leadership in each school or college to set a schedule. The process is cyclical, with each program undergoing review/evaluation one every five years. Every effort is made to properly align the APR review with obligations for specialized accreditation. Each review takes roughly 12-18 months to complete.

How is the self-study conducted?

Each program will review the guidelines in preparation for the APR self-study. Programs are expected to adhere to program review timelines and general framework, but each program (based on its articulated needs and goals) may approach the self-study in its own way. In light of these unique characteristics, programs should meet with their dean and the Office of the Provost prior to beginning the self-study process.

What is the structure for the final self-study report?

Questions on the self-study template are designed to prompt reflection and discussion among the program team members writing the self-study. Not all of the questions will be relevant to each program. A section has been provided for programs do discuss why certain sections may not be relevant to the discipline, etc. Furthermore, the APR largely examines the program as it currently exists. The sections on Recommendations and Action Planning will give programs the opportunity to communicate goals and next steps for the future.

Who sits on the APR Committee/Review Team?

The APR Committee is comprised of nine members with representation from each school or college and affiliated units at OHSU. APR members are nominated by their school or college to a three year term. The appointment is endorsed by the APR Committee Chair and Office of the Provost. All nominations are confirmed by the OHSU Faculty Senate.

What happens with the self-study once the review is complete?

After the self-study has been submitted to the Office of the Provost, the APR Review Team convenes to discuss the report. Within four weeks of the review meeting, a report will be submitted to the program for response and revisions to correct factual errors. After the response has been received, the full APR Committee will meet (twice annually) to discuss Review Team recommendations, and identify areas for consideration and improvement across the university. Following the APR Committee meeting, the report is forwarded to Faculty Senate for its consideration. Upon approval, a recommendation and report is sent to the Provost.

Appendix F. Action Plan

Action Plan

The programs will use this action plan template to respond to the recommendations provided by the APR Committee and return it to APR within 3 months of receiving this evaluation and feedback from the APR Review Group. Your response to this action plan should identify actions and existing or needed resources taken to address these recommendations, and how the program plans to measure or assess progress. This Action Plan needs to be reviewed and endorsed at School level. Completing this table is required within the current review cycle, and these recommendations, actions, and metrics together with results will need to be presented in the next academic program review. This and any other responses by the program will be submitted to Faculty Senate with the program's self-study and this evaluation form (please, see flowchart).

Appendix G. Important Definitions

Academic Program Review: The APR is designed to evaluate the quality of OHSU's undergraduate and graduate educational programs, and provide faculty and academic units the opportunity to reflect upon the content of their programs, curricular delivery and research through an evaluation of program planning and effectiveness.

Academic Program Review Committee: The APR Committee is comprised of no fewer than nine members with representation from each school or college and affiliated units at OHSU. It is the responsibility of the Committee to establish the schedule for program review, conduct a review and analysis of scheduled programs, provide feedback to programs and school level leadership on general commendations and areas for improvement, as well as generate an annual report that documents common themes and recommendations to university level leadership.

Program Review Team: The Review Team is comprised of no less than three members (unless only two members can be identified for a specific review) from the APR Committee. The responsibility of the Review Team is to evaluate individual programs and to bring reflections and recommendations to the APR Committee for consideration.

Program Self-Study: The self-study is developed by the program in preparation for the APR. Components of the self-study include: introduction; description and analysis; program recommendations and supporting documentation. For detailed information, see the section related to the self-study outline on page 5.

Program Action Plan: The program action plan is developed after the self-study has been reviewed by the APR Committee. The action plan is drafted by the programs as a way to reflect and respond to Review Team recommendations and set goals that will be evaluated in the next program review cycle, and will be assessed as a component of section 1. The Action Plan is developed by the program with the support of school level leadership and needs to be submitted to the APR Committee within the same review cycle.

APR Program Report: the Program Report is developed by the Review Team and reflects the program level feedback generated by the committee. The commendations and recommendations in this report should be used as a guide when developing the Program Action Plan.

APR Annual Report: The Annual Report is generated by the APR Committee and documents the work that has occurred over the academic year. The report is verbally presented to the Faculty Senate, and then formalized in a shared memorandum that is submitted to the Provost on behalf of the APR Committee and Faculty Senate. This report documents the programs reviewed, commendations and recommendations, and offers broader institutional level recommendations for university consideration.

Student Learning Outcomes Assessment Plan: OHSU Academic Programs engage in an annual Assessment Planning Process to engage in meaningful data-driven program improvement while meeting standards set forth by NWCCU.

To ensure the highest levels of quality, all academic programs create and implement assessment plans that articulate student learning outcomes and assessment activities for determining student achievement of outcomes. Additionally, all academic programs reflect on student assessment and program statistical data as part of the annual reflection and review process.

Underrepresented Minority (URM): Any ethnic or racial group whose representation is disproportionately less in a given context relative to their numbers in the general population constitutes an underrepresented minority.

For students, OHSU defines underrepresented minorities based on minorities underrepresented in medicine, dentistry and nursing professions. The following students are considered an underrepresented minority when self-identifying race or ethnicity as follows:

- American Indian or Alaska Native
- Underrepresented Asian (Korean, Vietnamese)
- Black or African American
- Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander
- Two or more races (with at least one race classified as URM)
- Hispanic or Latino Ethnicity
