

In an emergency, every moment counts.

You're invited to a free information session about HERO Kids Registry, an important new way to help Oregon families prepare for medical emergencies.

HERO Kids Registry is a voluntary, statewide program that lets families and young adults give emergency providers important health information BEFORE an emergency happens. Emergency medical services and hospital emergency departments can quickly and easily access that information when it's needed.

HERO Kids Registry can especially help in emergencies involving young people with complex health conditions, developmental disabilities, or mental health conditions. Young adults through age 26 can register themselves in HERO Kids. Click a link to register for a free information session:

"It's hard to explain (my child's) diagnoses, behaviors, and needs quickly. HERO Kids Registry would help first responders and emergency departments be (more) ready to meet my son's particular needs. – Oregon Parent
