

Diversity Visiting Student Surgery

SCHOLARSHIP

Oregon Health and Science University (OHSU) is one of the premier academic surgical training programs in the Pacific Northwest and boasts the largest surgical residency program in the country. There is not only a wide breadth of patient demographics but also a wide breadth of diversity in training opportunities across the state.

Program Overview

OHSU's Department of Surgery has designed the "Diversity Visiting Student Surgery Scholarship" a funded program to support the Department's goal of striving for health equity for all by becoming a more diverse, inclusive and equitable department. This program selects one highly qualified student from a historically under-represented (URM) background to participate in a 4th year sub-internship at OHSU.

Program Includes

- A 4-week rotation at Oregon Health and Science University Hospital
- Reimbursement of $3,000 for travel, housing, and application expenses
- Clinical experience alongside renowned surgeons in many of the surgical specialties that OHSU has to offer including;
 - General Surgery
 - Colorectal Surgery
 - Surgical Oncology
 - Hepatopancreatic biliary
 - Foregut Surgery
 - Bariatric surgery
- An assigned faculty mentor
- A resident or fellow mentor
- A meeting with the Vice Chair & Council of Diversity Equity and Inclusion committee

How to Apply

1. Review and meet the OHSU School of Medicine MD Program Visiting Student Requirements
2. Submit an application for OHSU General Surgery Elective Rotation through VSLO
3. Complete an application for the Department of Surgery Diversity Visiting Student Scholarship through this link

Questions?

Please email surgerydei@ohsu.edu or visit our webpage Diversity Visiting Student Scholarship

Applications will be open in VSLO early spring for a fall rotation

