

THE OREGON BIOETHICS AND HUMANITIES
COLLOQUIUM PRESENTS

"Vulnerability in Caring for Others and Ourselves"

BY MAUREEN KELLEY, PHD

PROFESSOR OF MEDICINE
OREGON HEALTH & SCIENCE UNIVERSITY

FRIDAY, JANUARY 20TH FROM 8-9AM PT
THIS IS A VIRTUAL EVENT

WEBEX LINK: [HTTPS://OHSU.WEBEX.COM/OHSU/J.PHP?
MTID=MAE08F6F2F9A5F027C5B3C464F26DDF63](https://OHSU.WEBEX.COM/OHSU/J.PHP?MTID=MAE08F6F2F9A5F027C5B3C464F26DDF63)

ADD TO CALENDAR
OUTLOOK - GOOGLE - APPLE

ABOUT OUR SPEAKER

Maureen Kelley, PhD is the Madeline Brill Nelson Chair in Ethics Education and Provisional Professor of Medicine at OHSU, specializing in ethics and women's and children's global health. Previous to this role from 2014 to 2022 she was Professor of Bioethics at the Nuffield Department of Population Health, University of Oxford where she led a research program on global health bioethics and served on the COVID-19 research ethics committee for the World Health Organization.

Before moving to the UK she spent 8 years in Seattle at the Treuman Katz Center for Pediatric Bioethics, Seattle Children's Hospital, and the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Washington School of Medicine. Dr. Kelley is a moral philosopher and qualitative researcher by training and has worked for more than twenty years as a clinical ethics consultant and teacher in medical ethics in pediatrics, adolescent medicine, and women's health in the U.S. and international settings.

OBHC IS HOSTED BY THE OHSU CENTER FOR ETHICS IN HEALTH CARE.

SCAN QR CODE OR CLICK HERE TO VISIT THE OBHC WEBPAGE.

