

VA General Medicine Clinic is a patient-centered medical home in which residents care for veterans who have served our country from World War II to present day conflicts. Our residents provide comprehensive and evidence-based primary care which is rarely limited by barriers of cost or access. The increasing diversity of our patient population reflects the increasing diversity of the American military, and many of our residents have the opportunity to provide comprehensive care for patients who identify as female, as LGBTQ+, and as people of color. As a resident primary care physician at the VA General Medicine Clinic, you will be supported by your Patient Aligned Care Team, which includes registered nurses who are the first point of contact for acute patient issues, a mental health team embedded in our clinic, health coaches to aid patients in setting and achieving their goals, and a supervising attending who will work closely with you throughout residency to develop your skills in outpatient medicine. All VA clinic residents are issued VA laptops to facilitate access to our medical record and resources while working offsite. We hope you'll join our VA clinic family!
