This chart shows some of the nutrition information for the menu items. Use this chart to answer the following questions.

7. Which three menu items have the most calories?

8. Which three menu items have the most fat?

9. Which three menu items have the most sodium?

Make a Menu Game Plan by Thinking Outside the Box

Youth should get 600-800 calories and no more than 25g of fat per meal and foods from at least four food groups. The American Heart Association says you should not get more than 1,500mg of sodium per day.

10. What would you order to meet as much of those guidelines as possible?

Think “Outside the Box”

Skip the bun and order the grilled cod with the rest of the toppings.

Choose the whole-wheat bread option for the turkey sandwich.

Why not split an entree with a friend and each order a salad?
