

Oregon Family to Family Health Information Center & The Institute on Development and Disability

Medical and Educational Evaluations for Developmental Disabilities:

What is the Difference?

For families of children with developmental differences ages 1 to 18

Dawn Macready-Santos, LCSW, a clinical social worker at the Institute on Development & Disability autism clinic, will discuss the difference between medical diagnostic evaluations and educational evaluations, and service eligibility for children with developmental differences. We will explore how medical and educational evaluations differ, and how they can impact which services your child can qualify for. This presentation will be conducted in Spanish, interpretation to other languages can be requested below.

You'll learn:

- ✓ What resources are available in each setting (medical and educational)
- ✓ Which organizations can help you access services
- ✓ How to request an evaluation in a medical or educational setting

Wednesday, February 25, 2026 | 6:30 – 7:30 pm | Cost: Free

Register here: <https://tinyurl.com/32zwuxk8>

This presentation will be conducted in Spanish. Request interpretation to another language by emailing contact@oregonfamilytofamily.org by February 18.