Dr. Susan Tolle is a graduate of the Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU). After graduating AΩA (Alpha Omega Alpha) from OHSU, she completed her internal medicine residency at UC San Diego where she was also Chief Resident. She later completed a fellowship in Clinical Medical Ethics at the University of Chicago.

Susan founded and has directed the Oregon Health & Science University Center for Ethics in Health Care since 1989 and has shepherded its growth into a now internationally recognized ethics center with programs such as the Physicians Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment (POLST) program. Susan is also a professor of medicine, OHSU School of Medicine, the Cornelia Hayes Stevens Endowed Chair in Health Care Ethics, and Chair of the Oregon POLST Coalition. She previously practiced as an Internal Medicine Physician at OHSU. Her awards include the 2014 MacLean Prize in Clinical Medical Ethics and the OHSU 2016 Esther Pohl Lovejoy Leadership Alumni Award.
