

Oregon Regional and Statewide Conferences: A Signature Program of the OHSU Center for Ethics in Health Care

Since its establishment in 1989 the Center for Ethics in Health Care has held as one of its most important missions to be a resource to all of the people of Oregon—colleagues in the health professions and the general public alike—who share the Center’s concerns for patient- and family-centered health care that is compassionate and just. This commitment has led to a record of outreach activities, stretching into every corner of the state, that is very likely unparalleled by any University-based Ethics Program in the United States. It would be fair to say that there are very few hospital ethics committees, ethics consultants, community advisory boards, or individual practitioners across the State of Oregon whose knowledge and skills in health care ethics have not been enriched and supported in some way by the Center’s programming.

The table below lists the regional and statewide conferences sponsored by the Center for Ethics in Health Care from 1989 through 2016. A hallmark of these activities is close partnership and collaboration with health professionals in the local communities where the activities take place, thereby assuring strong connections between the Center’s resources and the interests and concerns of local participants. Crucial support for the Center’s statewide programming has come from The Kinsman Foundation, the Kinsman Endowment, and the Collins Medical Trust.

Compiled by Margaret Jeppesen, the Center’s Statewide Education Coordinator from 2005 to 2015, the table reflects the leadership and expertise of a core group of Center faculty, including Patrick Dunn, Susan Tolle, Erik Fromme, Lynn A. Jansen, and David Barnard. Molly Willis, who succeeded Margaret Jeppesen as Statewide Education Coordinator in 2016, is ably carrying on the tradition into a bright future of continued service to Oregonians.
