APPLYING TO THE ADULT GERONTOLOGY ACUTE CARE NURSE PRACTITIONER

The Adult-Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (AGACNP) program prepares students to manage adults, including the frail elderly, who have acute, critical and complex chronic conditions. These include patients that are physiologically unstable, technologically dependent, and/or are susceptible to complications. The skills gained will allow graduates to provide a spectrum of care ranging from disease prevention to acute and critical care management, including stabilizing the patient’s condition, preventing complications, restoring maximum health and/or providing palliative and end of life care.

Degree Options: Students in this program can either take two years of full-time study and complete the Master of Nursing (MN) degree or can attend for three years of full-time study to complete a Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) degree. Either option offers a practice-focused curriculum that will support the career trajectory for those pursuing expert clinical practice and leadership as an acute care nurse practitioner. A post master’s certificate option (PMCO) is also available. For PMCO applicants, students will undergo an individualized ‘gap analysis’ to ascertain which courses and clinical hours are needed to meet graduation and certification requirements.

Course Delivery: This program is offered in a face-to-face format on the Portland campus only; with some courses provided online. The program starts once a year in fall.

Admission Factors:
Admissions decisions are strongly based on the following criteria:

- Cumulative GPA & Science GPA of 3.0 or higher
- 3 Letters of recommendation
- Scholarly sample of work (DNP applicants only)
